Marflex 5000 is a proven fortified elastomeric membrane that can be applied over almost any clean, dry, sound substrate. Its permanent elasticity allows it to move with the structure and it will not become brittle, evaporate, and lose its flexibility or its waterproofing ability. It resists freeze-thaw cycles and testing shows that it outlasts conventional protection methods.

ShockWave is constructed of environmentally green closed-cell foam that acts as a powerful shock absorber. The board's crush-resistant memory ensures that the wall and membrane are not damaged during backfill. Shockwave can be used in any geographical area with excellent results. When installed with Marflex 5000, an industry-leading 50 year warranty is standard.

Marflex DrainAway is wrapped with a non-woven filter fabric and designed to replace conventional gravel covered pipe drainage around foundation and retaining walls.

The Marflex Control-Joint System eliminates random shrinkage cracks by creating vertical control-joints on both sides of a poured wall. Waterstop elastomeric sealant and fiberglass fabric finish the outside control joint to form a watertight barrier.

Vortex telescopic vents come in two sizes, expanding to fit 5, 6 and 7 inch walls, as well as 8, 9 and 10 inch walls, nominal and full, which means fewer inventory headaches.

When sizing spray tips, the first number indicates the pattern width. This number is then doubled, indicating the width of the spray pattern when held 12" away from wall. The second set of numbers indicate the orifice diameter. This number determines the rate of atomization, which can affect drying times and coverage rates. Therefore, a #727 tip will spray a 14" pattern width at a 12" distance.
